

SAVE THE DATE

May 28, 2020 9:00 a.m. to 12:00 p.m. PST

Regional Forest Climate Conversation

A collaborative climate-informed dialogue with local, regional and national partners

American Forests, in partnership with the Mojave Desert RCD, is convening land managers to develop a climate-informed forest regeneration strategy for the San Bernardino mountains. This is our initial kick-off meeting and YOU are invited!

A webinar will be held on Thursday May 28th from 9:30 a.m. to 12:00 p.m. This webinar will lay the groundwork for a larger planning process – we will focus on project context, a proposed adaptation framework, climate trends and projections, and shared discussion of management considerations (including forest health, regeneration, and reforestation practices).

Pre-Registration is Required:

https://zoom.us/meeting/register/tJlrdehrDloG9dlmHFeX_XUm1sHvQ7jsaWE

Questions: Brittany Dyer at bdyer@americanforests.org 530-238-7190

Goals of the overall planning process:

- Develop climate adaptation actions for forest management in the San Bernardino mountains
- Advance strategies for climate-informed reforestation
- Assess practical tools and techniques for managing pre- and post-disturbance environments

